RE: Cease and Desist Respecting Defamatory Statements
Harming Mr. Benson/The Diogenes Group Ltd

Dear Mr. Rosenberg:

We are counsel to Mr. Benson/The Diogenes Group Ltd. As you know, you posted on the PIABA Forum suggesting our client, Mr. Benson/The Diogenes Group Ltd., has a "problem" and then made a demonstrably false statement about the services they provide. As a direct result of your libelous post, a PIABA Board Member did not hire Diogenes.

At the time of your post, you had absolutely no credible basis to comment on their services in any form and, as a result of your willful and malicious post, our clients have been damaged.

Our clients are highly motivated to defend the reputation of their services. In order to avoid our commencing litigation, you need to immediately take the following corrective actions:

1. Immediately retract and delete your defamatory post from the PIABA website.
2. You post a public apology stating that you have never been their client, you know absolutely nothing about their services, you have never used any of their services, that you have never spoken to or met Mr. Benson, and you know nothing about their analysis or their cutting-edge technology.
3. That you admit that you had no legitimate knowledge, creditability, foundation, expertise or experience to make any comments about their service.

4. You apologize to the PIABA Board of Directors for posting a false statement on its message board and causing harm to Mr. Benson/The Diogenes Group Ltd.
5. You apologize to the readers of the PIABA website for posting the false and inaccurate comment.
6. You apologize to Howard Rosenfield (publicly) for blaming him.
7. You never write or speak about The Diogenes Group services or Mr. Benson again
8. All of the above will be required to be pre-approved, in writing, by our office.

Our clients are fully prepared to file a lawsuit against you if these conditions are not met. We trust that can be avoided. Your prompt response before May 30, 2024 is expected.

Very truly yours,

Mark F. Raymond, Esq.
